

We usually visit the House of Tiny Treasures on the second Monday of each month. We carpool from the JCC and read to the children from 10:00-11:00 a.m. Please email Sandy Harris at presdb@ncjwhouston.org to be included in this worthwhile project. If you can bring new and/or gently read children's books, it would be greatly appreciated.

Join our group of dedicated volunteers once a month for an hour of reading to a group of young children, "little treasures," at the House of Tiny Treasures. The House of Tiny Treasures is a fully accredited childcare facility that addresses the needs of children whose parents are homeless, but in school or job training. It is a project of SEARCH (Service and Emergency Resource Center for the Homeless), an agency created in 1989 by NCJW's own life member, Shelly Cyprus. Its purpose is to provide Houston's homeless with services, day shelter, and resources to successfully re-enter society. SEARCH's mission is to create hope, provide opportunity and transform lives.
